UNDER THE PUNKAH.
By J. PENN.
Rather Fishy.
I have just returned from a wild-goose chase. The result of this expedition simply shows you can't believe everything you hear. I am reminded of the ticket-inspector on a railway who found two nuns in great distress—lost their tickets and no money in their purses. The inspector was sceptical and suspicious, as such men always are. "Who are you, anyhow?" said he. "We are sisters of John the Baptist!"
replied the elder lady. "Um," sniffed the hard-boiled inspector,
"that's a lie to begin with!"
However, to come back to what I was saying about people misleading one. A man told me the other day that there was an aquarium already in existence in Kowloon, and I believed him. I hastened to the spot indicated, under the shadow of the Peninsula Hotel, and what did I see? Just a few glass bowls on a shelf in a gardener's shack! And in them half a dozen goldfish, looking just as stupid
as they usually do.
There was no specimen to be seen of silverfish, nor any attempt, so far as I could see, to display effectively and instructively the few exhibits which were on view.
This is certainly not my idea of what an aquarium should be. If I were given the job of collecting and exhibiting examples of the piscatorial species, I should go about it properly, like this:—
SHARK—(Carcharias taurus)—Common variety; voracious; frequents vicinity of jet-house pier.
FISHING FISH (Koi)—(Koi)—
Rather rare, but becoming more numerous under expert attention.
CARP (Pomfret)—(Pomfret)—
Talking fish; very superior type;
blood not only cold but slightly tinged with blue—through cousin-ship removed.
SHRIMP (N. Pektolus)—Very common variety; easily trained and quite harmless.
FLATFISH (Kouloonus Ferri Fulgaria)—Extremely common species, and often very noisy.
OYSTER (N. Observatorium)—
Particularly dumb when typhoon warnings hoisted.
CATFISH (Ferri Fleggerina)— Highly decorative but extremely dangerous. Seen most of during the hot weather.
And so on and so on. Readers interested in the study of pica-torial species (improvised, impecunious, and otherwise) can amuse themselves by finding other desirable specimens for our Kowloon aquarium. But there's no need to hurry about it. The P.W.D. have not started on their plans and blueprints yet, for the simple reason that the necessary money has not been voted, for the equally simple reason that the Legislative Council has not been asked to approve such expenditure —and won't be!

Gentlemen:

This is to state that the writer is just coming into port at San Francisco, returning from a summer's voyage into the Orient. I have been leader of a party of eight women. I cannot express too highly my appreciation of the courtesy and attention we have received from the W.Y.K. people. They have made it possible for us to make close connections, and given us the best of service we have travelled on four different W.Y.K. boats this summer. Greatly too, have we enjoyed the friendliness of all the Japanese people.

Yours truly,

Hock Aye!

And you should have seen the looks in the crowd when the band started an eight-meal reel! My dear, how common! That sort of thing may be all right just once a year, by way of humoring those rough, hairy-kneed barbarians over the border, in the same way as we have to pretend to enjoy their horrible baggins, but, my dear, a reel in our hotel is not done, nor do we approve those wild yells and shrieks which appear to be inseparable from such disgusting displays of indecency. One couple, not wishing to be thought too stiff, solemnly started to waltz to the reel, and a very pleasant time was spent by all!

Aye, and here's a wee bit o' news about the Scotch Bull. An Aberdeen man—[why bring that in?]—recently wrote home to a dozen different tailors for self-measurement forms and books of patterns. Now, wait till you see his wife's beautiful tartan skirt at St. Andrew's ball!

Marathon Racing.

An important item of news in the local world of sport has not been recorded, perhaps owing to the secretary of the H.K.R.B.A. (Hong Kong Rickshaw Boys' Association) having omitted to inform the Press of the event beforehand. I refer to the marathon race between rickshaw boys and the Navy (guess which one) which took place the other day. The rickshaw boys were badly handicapped, throughout the contest owing to unfair assistance being given by the Tramway Company to the other side. The race started at the Central Market, when three bluejackets hastily alighted from their vehicles and boarded a fast-moving tram-car bound for Causeway Bay. Picking up the shafts of their vehicles, the rickshaw boys dashed off and drew alongside at the Post Office, and the race proceeded neck and neck along the tramway track with the rickshaw men casting anxious glances at the top deck, on the starboard side of which, in single file, were seated their rivals.

Three rickshaw boys, pulling empty vehicles and racing with a tram-car, naturally caused an enormous sensation along the route, and spectators held their breath (or breaths) as the footmen darted in and out among the motor vehicles in order to keep up the race. A few passengers on the tram-car watched the contest with much interest, while one of the naval competitors amused them by occasionally peeping over the port side and then remarking his sentiment with the remark: "Ginger, they're still coming!"

The rickshaw boys dropped anchor for awhile when the tram-car was obliged to halt at various stopping places. One of them, who had his companions well beaten, dashed ahead and waited in Arsenal Street, evidently expecting the Navy to surrender at this point. This, however, did not come to pass, and the next lap was carried out along the Praya as far as the Wanchai fire station, where two of the rickshaw boys decided to give up. The third continued until the next halt, and then he also decided to turn back. The "all clear" signal was given when the tram-car approached the Kwong Sang Hong factory, and at Tin Lok Lane the naval competitors left the tram-car, reaching the winning-post (the football-ground) easy winners, and without one bead of perspiration between them.

DOOR OPENED BY A SHADOW.

DEVICE WORKED BY RAY OF LIGHT.

An automatic sliding door that opens and closes without conscious human efforts has been perfected in the laboratories of the General Electric Company at Schenectady. A person walks toward the door, and when he approaches within the proper distance it opens and lets him pass, closing only when he is inside or outside.

Hotel waiters and others who carry burdens in their arms need no longer struggle to "hold the door" when such an installation has been made. A photo-electric cell does the work for them.

A ray of light is focused past the door threshold on a photo-electric cell. This ray, when interrupted by the body of a person approaching the doorway, sets an hydraulic door-opener to work.

The hydraulic device is somewhat similar to that used in "tube" carriages for actuating the doors.

The tube is connected so that it controls, by a three-tube amplifier, an automatic relay, which in turn starts a small motor that operates the hydraulic device. A lever then forces the door open and "holds" it for a period of time, adjustable to the varying conditions under which the door may be used.

HOURS OF NON-MANUAL WORKERS.

PLEA FOR A FIVE-DAY WEEK.

The annual congress of the International Federation of Professional Workers was held at Caxton Hall, Westminster, last month.

Mr. G. W. Thomson (general secretary of the Association of Engineering and Shipbuilding Draughtsmen), speaking on rationalization, said that curbs and amalgamations did not always achieve the efficiency claimed for them. Rationalization did not always mean the improvement of plant and technique. There was certainly less close personal supervision and control in the larger establishments, and possibly a great deal less initiative was exercised among the managerial and administrative staffs.

The closing of factories under schemes of rationalization which involved the purchase of a number of less efficient plants naturally resulted in a large increase of unemployment. In Great Britain they were now keeping men in idleness at a huge expense to the State and the trade unions, while the men were losing their skill and craftsmanship.

It was decided that the Resolutions Committee should draft a resolution on the matter.

Miss Dorothy Evans, general secretary of the Association of Women Clerks and Secretaries, on behalf of the British delegation, brought forward the question of the hours of office workers. The 48-hour week, as it was understood at Geneva, was rare to the great mass of typists and clerks in England. She suggested that all the national federations should Press for the 38-hour week for professional workers.

It was stated that the proposal was not practicable so far as the Continental countries were concerned, and the congress agreed to accept the principle of a seven-hour day for non-manual workers.

Mr. G. W. Smith, general secretary of the British Federation, moved that the congress record its approval of the five-day week as a desirable development of industrial and professional employment, and urged affiliated bodies to work for its adoption. He said that with few exceptions support for the five-day week at present came from individual firms rather than from groups or whole industries; and those employers were usually among the enlightened and progressive industrialists. The question was now a practical one so far as non-manual workers were concerned.

The congress agreed to the resolution, with the proviso that a five-day week did not entail a longer working day or a lower wage.

A KING'S TREASURE.

QUEST FOR LOBENGULA'S HOARD.

A King's treasure—ivory, raw gold, British and Kruger sovereigns and diamonds—valued at £2,000,000 lies hidden somewhere in the Rhodesia bush.

It is the buried hoard of Lobengula, the Zulu warrior who founded the Matabele nation, challenged the British might in 1892 and met with defeat.

A Johannesburg business man—Mr. Lloyds Ellis—who has already made six attempts to trace the buried treasure, will make a final attempt next year.

The story of the treasure has been told by John Jacobs, Lobengula's one-time "secretary"—now an old man of 70. Lobengula ordered that his ivory and two safes containing a store of diamonds and gold packed in tins were to be rushed into the bush. The leaders of the party were Lobengula, Jacobs, four indunas (native officers), and 14 Matabele, who dug the holes in which the treasure was hidden.

One night, on their return, Lobengula ordered the indunas to slay all who had taken part in the burial. All save Jacobs and the indunas were executed. Jacobs has told Mr. Hedley A. Chilvers, who describes the search for the treasure in "The Seven Lost Trails of Africa," Cassell, 7s. 6d., how, sometimes at night, the King would order him to cover his body with sovereigns "until he resembled some golden grotesque from an Egyptian tomb."

Mr. Chilvers states that he was able to cross-examine Jacobs very closely, "though, in justice to one who is making another attempt to find it shortly, I have had to refrain from defining too closely the suspected site of the cache."

The six other "lost trails" lead to treasures—diamonds, gold and silver, waiting somewhere in the African wild till the white man adventures find them.

But, Mr. Chilvers adds: "It is to be hoped that... the book will tempt readers to invest money in further search of buried African treasure. All too much has been lost in that fashion already."

THE DANGER OF INDIGESTION.

Few people realize that danger lurks behind that seemingly unimportant discomfort after eating. Nevertheless, it is true, for nine times out of ten the trouble is caused by excess stomach acid which not only makes food ferment but also attacks the stomach lining and may cause ulceration. You can avoid such danger and promptly stop digestive distress by taking a little "Bismarck" Magnesia after eating or whenever pain is felt. This instantly neutralizes all excess acid, averts fermentation and soothes and heals the inflamed stomach lining. Doctors all over the world recommend "Bismarck" Magnesia because it quickly stops indigestion and removes the insidious cause safely and surely. Ask your chemist for a package of "Bismarck" Magnesia (powder or tablets) and keep yourself free from stomach trouble.

HAD BLOTCHES ON FACE AND BODY Was Nearly Mad at Times. Healed by Cuticura.

"My trouble began with an irritation and then small, red blotches broke out all over my face, body, arms and hands. Later scales formed, and when I got warm in bed the trouble was worse. There were nights when I never got any sleep. I was nearly mad at times. I went on for about a month when I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and after using two tablets of Cuticura Soap and one tin of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) H. E. Swift, Round Hills, Digby, N. Lincoln, Eng.

THE WORLD AT ITS WORST

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

LUGGAGE SEIZED BY LIONS.

TOURISTS WATCH THEM
CHEW-AND CHEW.

Six lions took charge of the luggage of a party of five tourists in the Kruger Game Reserve near Capetown recently, and for a long time refused to leave it.

The tourists dumped their luggage while motoring to the reserve headquarters to see the various animals before camping for the night. On their return they found the luggage sealed and six lions surrounding it.

The lions had torn up blankets, chewed a suitcase to pieces, and were still chewing.

The tourists raced the engine of the motor-car, shouted, and fired revolvers, but the lions took no notice, and just chewed up some more luggage.

Finally the tourists went off and obtained a petrol flare from a police picket.

They threw this among the lions, who then reluctantly stopped chewing and retired to a distance of twenty yards, from where they watched the tourists gingerly collect their belongings.

MAN SAVES HIS COUNTRY

MILLIONS.
NAVY FOUNDER'S SUICIDE.

"He was in charge of all the transports of Australia during the war, and is believed to have saved Australia three and a half million pounds by the way he discharged his duties."

This statement was made by a brother-in-law at the inquest at Kensington last month on Captain Albert Martin, O.B.E., aged fifty-nine, a retired officer of the Australian Navy, who was found dead with his throat cut in an hotel at Pembroke-gardens, Kensington.

A version of "Suicide while of unsound mind" was recorded. Mr. James Clarke, a retired manager of Treen-avenue, Barnes, said that Captain Martin, his brother-in-law, was a great friend of Mr. Scullin, Australian Prime Minister, and one of the founders of the Australian Navy.

Mr. Oswald, the coroner: He was trying to emulate a great man in founding navies. Alfred the Great founded our Navy, you know.

Mr. Clarke: "Yes, Australia has a lot to thank him for."

Mr. Clarke added that Captain Martin had lately been treated for his nerves.

"He was all nerves," he added, "and I put it down to his over-doing things during the war when he had the great task of handling the transports."

Mr. Clarke said that on Sunday night he played bridge with Captain Martin, who seemed low-spirited. He heard the next day that Captain Martin had been found dead.

RHYTHM IN MUSIC.

TEACHING OF SINGING IN SCHOOLS.

The need for more sight-singing was urged by Mr. Cyril Winn, Inspector of the Board of Education, when speaking at the summer course in music teaching at Oxford last month.

"We do not train our children's eyes in reading music nearly enough," he said. "Sol-fa notation is all right for vocal work, but it goes awry with instrumental work, and we certainly want to prepare for both right from the beginning. The first introduction to sight-reading must be by rhythm. Drill by the tapping of different rhythms can be done easily by children of six upwards, and if these are accompanied by pictures of notes on the blackboard it gets them used to the look of staff notation."

"Start melody making, too, very young. Tap a little phrase and ask for a tapped answer. It is no good giving children staves, pencils, and plenty of indiarubber. The reply must come spontaneously by rhythmic means, straight from the heart. Staff notation reading should be started as early as possible, and with the aid of the sol-fa in scale-wise passages. It is no good waiting until children are eleven or twelve to start staff singing in great batches. We delude ourselves into thinking all the children are sight singing, whereas only about three are and the other are simply following. To avoid this we must sectionalise our sight-reading work, otherwise it is futile."

Major Bavin, director of the Education Department of the Federation of British Music Industries, demonstrated with three children how stringed instruments could be learnt in classes. There was an agonised gasp from a violinist who had lent his instrument when Major Bavin, in sitting down to play the cello, accidentally sat on the violin, but no damage was done. In speaking of the choice of music, Major Bavin said that to slavishly follow a publisher's graded list was sheer laziness and proof of a teacher's incompetence. Every pupil should be considered and given a say in the choice.

THE SILVER SCREEN.

OPERATIC DRAMA AT THE QUEEN'S THEATRE.

"Lawrence Tibbett," the famous operatic baritone, makes his bow in talking pictures in "The Rogue Song," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's operatic drama which is showing at the Queen's Theatre. Lionel Barrymore, who is also a musician and composer, directed the production.

"Ride 'em, Cowboy!"

You will whoop with joy when you see and hear the cavalcade of cowboys galloping over the plains in "Montana Moon," the first musical Western ever screened, which opens to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre with John Crawford in the starring rôle. A beautiful picture, this. With the great, rugged open spaces for a background, it brings rare pictorial charm to the screen, and provides a setting of grandeur to Miss Crawford's excellent performance.

As the city snapper who gets her man out where the West begins, John is more appealing than ever before, refreshing in the out-of-door atmosphere, and completely captivating in a splendid portrayal of the rôle. Johnny Mack Brown, who plays opposite, scores again as a consistently fine player.

Not the least in this tuneful romance of Montana is the comedy interest injected by that side-splitting team of Cliff (Ukulele Ike) Edwards and Benny Rubin. You certainly remember them from "Marianne." Well, here they are as cowboys (if you can imagine that) and what Benny doesn't know about horses Cliff doesn't know either. With Karl Dane as their foil, Cliff and Benny win the gold-plated pitchfork for comedy honours.

John sings even more delightfully than in "Untamed," and the surprise of the picture is Johnny's voice when he sings a plaintive ballad of the plains. The music is splendidly arranged, and the number sung by the cowboy chorus is something new in screen entertainment.

The music, by Nacio Herb Brown and Herbert Stothart, and the lyrics, by Arthur Freed and Clifford Grey, brings out such numbers as "Sing a Song of Old Montana," "Happy Cowboy," "The Moon Is Low," "Trailer in Old Montana," and "Montana Call."

"Cuckoos."

One song and dance in one picture obtained a long-term contract for June Clyde, featured player in Radio Pictures' musical comedy, "The Cuckoos," now showing at the Central Theatre. But there were many years of preparation leading up to that song and dance.

With very little screen experience, Miss Clyde was called to R.K.O. Studio for a short number in "Side Street," co-starring Tom Owen and Matt Moore. She made such a hit that her name was added to a contract.

Her first screen engagement was in a "bit" with Moran and Mack in "Two Black Crows." She was given a small singing and dancing part in "Side Street" with Radio Pictures and far-sighted studio executives signed her to a long-term contract.

A leading rôle came in her next picture, "Tanned Legs," spritely musical show. June Clyde had the satisfaction of seeing her name go up in lights along with players who had years of picture experience, including Anna Pennington, Arthur Lake and Dorothy Revier.

"Hit the Deck" brought June a new screen rôle. Her ambition, she says, has been to combine her singing, dancing and dramatic talents in one picture. Her chance came with "The Cuckoos," brilliant musical farce starring Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, madcap comedians of "Rio Rita."

WIVES' RIGHT TO WORK.

CHALLENGED IN GERMANY.

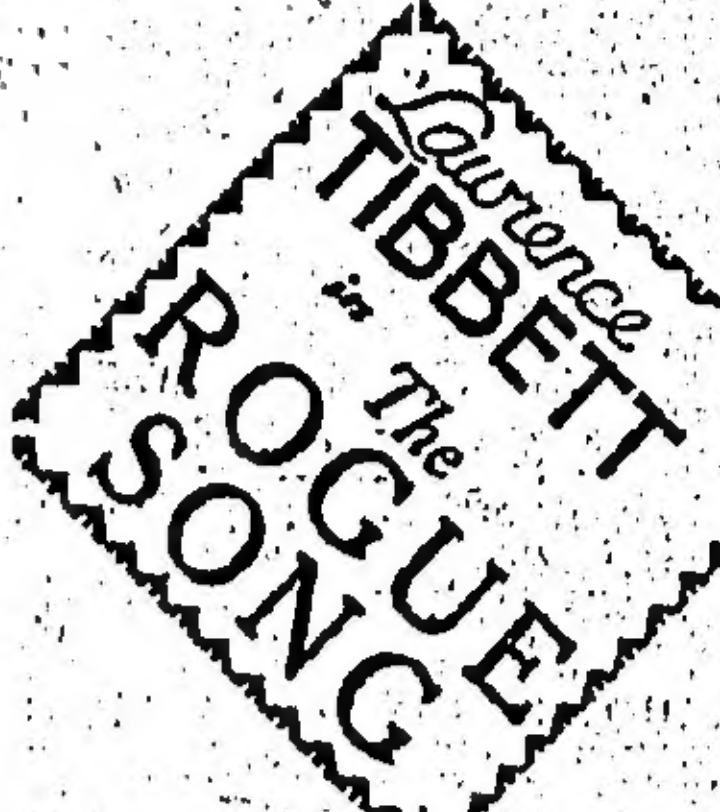

A curtailment of the married woman's right to work outside the home was one of the questions discussed by the German Cabinet at a meeting held in Berlin recently to frame measures to relieve the grave economic and financial crisis in Germany.

The view of the Cabinet's economic advisers is that the invasion of the labour market by women is a factor immediately contributing to unemployment among men, and that steps to prevent competition at least on the part of married women, ought to be taken.

It seems unlikely that the German Government will find it politic to rouse the violent antagonism of the women of the country by endorsing this view. German women's employment is a subject of great importance.

SMALLEST CHURCH IN THE WORLD.

FIVE YEARS' WORK OF ONE MAN.

Guernsey possesses the smallest church in the world. It is situated on the property of the Vaux-le-duc College and Novitiate, and it is a replica of the Basilica at Lourdes.

It was built by one of the brothers of the college, and the work has taken him five years. He still works every day to improve what is already a masterpiece.

The church is 10ft. high, 13ft. long, and 10ft. wide, and it can accommodate about twelve persons.

The outside of the building is made of clinker, outlined with shells and stones, while the interior is decorated with various designs formed of broken pottery and oyster shells, the colours being blended artistically. The little steeply-coned roof is covered with tiles.

The church is used for private devotion only, and is one of the stations on Rogation Days.

CITY MANAGER.

DUBLIN TRYING IDEA FROM U.S.A.

Dublin City is engaged on an experiment in municipal administration.

Municipal elections are going on, and after they are over British and American city authorities will be watching with interest the result of the experiment.

The City Council was dissolved during the civil war, and in its place three salaried Commissioners were appointed as administrators.

The present experiment is the setting up of a new City Council and the appointment of a "City Manager."

The idea came from the United States. It constitutes a compromise between the office of the British burgo-master and the British system of democratic control.

Everybody seems to be agreed that the City Manager shall have control of staffs, and shall make all arrangements, so that Aldermen and Councillors will not be bothered by canvassers.

UNEXPLAINED PLANE CRASHES.

MAGNETIC EYE FOR DETECTING FAULTS IN METAL.

The cause of the few aeroplane crashes in which motors fail for no apparent reason is often metal fatigue at hidden imperfections, frequently the inevitable result of parts vibrating in unison and thus multiplying to the breaking point the strains they bear (says the New York Literary Digest). A device with magnetic eyes which penetrates the interior of steel parts now finds these minute defects where fatigue occurs, but the vibration danger still exists.

"It is what broke three crankshafts during a single flight of the Graf Zeppelin, while the fourth did not quite reach the point of failure," said Roland Chilton, consulting engineer of Paterson, New Jersey, in a recent report to the American Society of Automotive Engineers. "The same thing happens when glass bowls are shattered by striking a synchronous piano note," Mr. Chilton explained.

"A crankshaft may be constructed of material having an ascertained safe fatigue-endurance stress of 40,000 pounds per square inch for use where it is impossible to predict any operating stress higher than 10,000 pounds per square inch, yet one failure may occur in a few hundred shafts," he continued. "The failure depends entirely on how long the engine happens to be operated at a speed synchronous with the natural torsional period of the shaft system. It has absolutely no connection with calculated stresses from inertia and explosion loads."

The usual remedy is to "beef up" the crankshaft, not to make it stronger, but to bring its period above the operating speed of the engine.

Another cause of failure at slight interior defects is the continuous vibrating of so-called rigid parts, the engineer said. The movement is as much as two-thousandths of an inch in a distance of one inch. Thus the fixed parts of the engine act very much like springs.

But the magnetic induction analyzer is coming into greater use to find the hidden weak spots which would pass visual and stationary testing, and is overcoming difficulties of both kinds of vibration, according to Mr. Chilton.

"This machine detects hair cracks, inclusions, segregation, and other defects in bar stock, which is fed rapidly through induction coils, and incidentally excites in any one, who watches it, a decided preference for engines built from stock so selected," he said.

GIRL PRISONER ESCAPES.

ROPE LADDER MADE IN PRISON.

It has been revealed that a pretty young girl prisoner at Holloway Gaol made a daring bid for liberty last month by means of a rope ladder.

Only the careful watch of a warder robbed her of the chance when she was in sight of freedom. Had she been successful she would have been the first woman to have got away. As it is, she is the first prisoner to have even made such an attempt.

The girl was serving a sentence of 18 months' imprisonment for larceny, and had been employed in the laundry.

"Steps" to Freedom.

How she succeeded in making a rope ladder 22ft. long, almost under the eyes of the warders, forms an amazing story of prison life.

It appears that for many months the girl had hid odd bits of rope which she found lying about. These she concealed in her clothing, and every night her nimble finger wove the pieces together in sections.

As each piece was completed the girl hid it in the stokehold adjoining the laundry.

With the aid of a couple of brooms she bound the ladder together, and then hid it away until a favourable moment arrived.

Slipping unnoticed from the party with which she had been working, she hid in the stokehold until the coast was clear.

Then she crept from her hiding place carrying the ladder.

Three minutes more and she would be free.

Suddenly from the shadow of the prison wall a voice rang out: "Stop!"

A warder on patrol had seen the figure slinking along the wall.

"The Bat"—Selection (Strauss).—Symphony Orchestra.

"Siegfried"—Grand Fantasy (Wagner).—Band of the Garrison Republicans.

U.S. ELECTIONS.

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGNS
PREPARED.

DEMOCRATS' ROAST.

[UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, Oct. 26.—Both the Republican and the Democratic parties are planning to conduct extremely vigorous final election campaigns in anticipation of Congressional and State elections next month, it was learned to-day.

Although President Hoover is keeping aloof from the turmoil of the present political striving, party lieutenants are mustering every resource in an effort to keep Congress Republican in tone because it is considered vital to the success of the Hoover Administration that this be achieved.

Democrats are freely predicting that they are about to seize control of the House of Representatives, and also of the Senate as well, through a coalition of Democrats with Independents including liberal or farm state Republicans.

The Prohibition Boxy.

Both parties are keenly watching developments with regard to prohibition—a boxy which has grown to imposing dimensions in spite of an apparent desire on the part of Republicans and Democrats alike to keep it in the background because of the uncertainty with which it might react upon their fortunes. It seems plain, at present, that both parties now believe that their strategy for the next Presidential campaign will be based on the results of the elections in the various states on November 4.

Both parties have both prohibition and "wet" candidates in various states, and the prohibition issue has been so closely drawn that it is felt the election will give an accurate indicator concerning the course on national policy in this respect. The "Wets" are disposed to feel jubilant so far as the results of the primaries are concerned, but the "drys" believe that a moderate and conservative sentiment, favouring prohibition, will come to the fore in the final elections.

President Hoover's Utterances.

Democratic speakers are emphasizing President Hoover's prohibition "prosperity utterances," contrasting the bright promises of the Republicans with the present depression and unemployment. No depression is world-wide, and declaring that President Hoover has prevented the United States from suffering as much as have other countries.

The Republicans are now admitting a possible loss of 22 seats in the House, based on the voting in the primaries, but this should permit them to retain a technical control at any rate.

Possible Loss in Senate.

With reference to the Senate, the Republicans say that they may lose from three to seven Senate seats, but not more than seven.

All appear to be agreed that, so far as prohibition is concerned, the day of the middle-of-the-road man or "wobler" has passed. Both "wets" and "drys" profess a willingness to fight the issue through on a straightforward basis, but observers believe that a compromise proposal such as one for 4.4 per cent beer might throw the situation into renewed confusion.

RUSHING HOME FOR

KOWLOON MOTORIST
CAUTIONED.

Mr. H. Kuhn, of the China Export and Import Bank Co., appeared before Mr. Butters at Kowloon Magistrate's yesterday when he was summoned with having driven a car along Waterloo Road in a manner dangerous to the public.

Sergeant Clarke stated that on October 12 at 1.15 p.m. he saw the defendant turning into Waterloo Road from Prince Edward Road, at a very high speed. Sergeant Clarke, in his motor-cycle, followed the defendant till somewhere near the railway bridge, where the defendant stopped. To give an idea at what speed the defendant was driving, Sergeant Clarke said that his own speedometer registered 40 miles an hour.

Defendant pointed out that although he was in a hurry, the time being 1.15 p.m., his car could not exceed the speed of 40 m.p.h. It was possible he might have been riding along at 30 m.p.h. Defendant mentioned he had been driving for the past six years and this was his first offence.

He was discharged with a

TALKIES IN THE ORIENT.

LARGE INVESTMENTS MADE BY THEATRES.

[UNITED PRESS.]

Tokyo, Oct. 15.—Sound motion pictures have captured the Orient and are continuing to spread into even remote cities, sound engineers told the United Press here to-day.

One American concern alone, the Western Electric organization, has installed its equipment in 21 theatres in China, nine in Japan, 10 in the Philippines, 10 in Malaya and 21 in the Dutch East Indies. It also has contracts in Indo-China and other places, writes Miles W. Vaughan.

Another American concern, the Radio Corporation organization, has more than 25 installations in the Philippines, alone.

Shanghai has more than a dozen "talkie" theatres, Hong Kong two and its sister city Kowloon, one, Hankow one, Amoy one, Canton three, Peiping three, Tientsin three, etc.

The equipment represents an investment of round G.81,500,000 and in most cases has been sold out right. In the Philippines, however, many theatres are financed by a subsidiary organization which installs equipment on a lease plan taking its payment in a percentage of the admissions.

The total investment in motion picture theatres alone in the Orient was G.850,000,000. This does not include studios of which there are a larger number, especially in Japan. The number of motion picture houses is increasing constantly. There are more than 1,300 in Japan alone. The new Capital Theatre in Singapore was described as one of the finest houses in the Orient, completed at a cost of around Straits $3,000,000.

No satisfactory sound pictures have been made in the Orient on a commercial scale, it was said, those made in Japan failing to satisfy audiences. Practically all the sound, and a majority of the silent films shown, are American. It is expected that American equipped recording studios will be in operation in Japan within the next year, however.

Differences between American sound equipment manufacturers led by the Radio Corporation of America and General Electric interests, were settled by an agreement in Paris last July. Under the agreement the Tobis-Klang concern in Germany was awarded the Dutch East Indies in its sphere of operations. This agreement, however, does not affect a majority of the theatres there which already were equipped with American machines.

Business in most motion pictures has continued fairly good in spite of general economic depression throughout the Orient. In Hankow, however, most theatres were closed at periods during the summer because of martial law which kept the people off the streets. In at least one instance military law was placed in operation while theatres were running and spectators had to remain in their seats all night.

A "VERY SPORTING" COMPLAINANT.

ON SPEAKING TERMS WITH DEFENDANT.

The case against a Chinese named Ng Kwong Ting for alleged embezzlement of $3,678.50 from the E. Fung Shipping Company was continued before Mr. E. H. Williams at Central Magistracy yesterday.

Mr. E. S. C. Brooks appeared for the complainant, Dr. Lam Yue-Hoe, while Mr. Leo D'Almada, a Castro, junior, instructed by Mr. J. M. d'Almada Remedios was for the defence.

Dr. Lam, the complainant, was cross-examined at some length by Counsel for defence, regarding the shareholders and their holdings in the E. Fung firm.

At one stage Mr. D'Almada asked: "Do you mean to say that, in spite of the fact that you are the complainant in this case, you are still on talking terms with the defendant?"

Witness: "Yes. This case is only a public affair."

Mr. D'Almada: "That is very sporting."

In the course of his evidence, witness stated that the E. Fung firm were no longer charterers of the s.s. Scistan, on which Dr. Lam is the doctor.

PERILS OF BAD PIPES.

FATE OF NATIONS IN PLUMBER'S BAG?

A startling theory that among the pipes and putty and other oddments in the plumber's bag may lie the fate of nations was propounded at a Bristol meeting of plumbers from all parts of the British Isles.

They had gathered to advance their national registration movement which seeks to ensure that all plumbers are fit to be members of the profession.

Mr. Medley, a Manchester plumber, struck the first note in a ding-dong discussion on the perils of bad plumbing when he boldly declared that bad plumbing killed more people than did soldiers.

The meeting then developed into a sort of plumbers' confessional.

Mr. McKenna, of the Plumbers' National Executive, extolled the qualified plumber as the only bulwark against sewer gas, and the one hope of survival for all who dwell in houses—especially slum houses.

Another delegate, a foreman plumber, dropped his bombshell with the remark that he used materials which disgusted him but he had been working to a price, and had no control in the matter.

Mr. McKenna wagged an emphatic forefinger. The plumbers, he said, claimed State protection of their craft from quacks, and in the public's interest that they should get it.

Many houses built to-day would ultimately become death-traps, due to inefficient plumbing.

Bad sanitation bred infectious diseases, and if local authorities would insist upon the highest class of plumbing work the extra cost would be more than balanced by the increased health of the people.

Matroil

A Really Washable Water Paint, Delightful Colours.

Many Water-Paints are called "washable"—few will stand the water-and-scrub-brush-test. Distempers and ordinary water paints absorb water—and to stand real washing a surface must be quite non-absorbent.

MATROIL is non-absorbent and therefore really washable, because it is an oil-bound paint. It contains oil—yet you thin it with water and, besides making it really washable, the oil gives MATROIL great durability.

HALLOW'EEN REUNION DINNER.

SCOTTISH COMPANY ENTERTAINS LARGE GATHERING AT VOLUNTEER HEADQUARTERS.

HAPPY SPEECH BY COMPANY'S CAPTAIN

The officers and men of the Hong Kong Volunteers were hosts last night to a large gathering of friends at Volunteer Headquarters when the annual Hallow'een Reunion Dinner was held.

The hall was tastefully decorated with greenery and lanterns. The table decorations and general lighting scheme struck a warm note and added to the air of conviviality among the gathering.

Capt. Forsyth proposed the toast of "The Visitors," to which Mr. T. H. R. Shaw suitably replied.

A very nice programme of music followed the dinner, and speeches and an enjoyable evening's entertainment was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," followed by the National Anthem.

Captain Forsyth, who proposed the toast of "The Visitors," said that it was customary on an occasion like the Hallow'een Reunion Dinner to recount and review the work of the Company for the past year.

The Company, since the last Hallow'een, has gone through the usual course of training. The camping had been thoroughly enjoyed by all ranks. Thanks to the ability of No. 6 Platoon, the Scottish Company obtained first place in Machine Gun firing. The success was duly celebrated. (Laughter.)

Captain Forsyth hoped that all those who can will go to camp this year, and he wanted to impress on all those who had recently joined the Company that camp, in the vernacular, came under the usual routine. Camping was to be encouraged, and in this connection he hoped that taipans would see that nothing was put in the way of a volunteer wanting to attend camp.

The usual Sunday Church Parade was held on the Sunday following St. Andrew's Day. Friday night was the night of the Ball, said Captain Forsyth. Saturday—well Saturday was the day after the ball on Friday night. On Sunday the Church Parade was held, and all things considered there was a very good muster indeed.

The Company had a representative turnout on King's Birthday parade in spite of the fact that the mercury was going up. In connection with that, the speaker thanked the pipers, who made a very good show that day, and he wanted particularly to award full marks to Capt. J. S. Morrison, who turned out as a piper on that occasion. (Applause.) He also wanted to thank Pipe Major Mackie for his work on King's Birthday parade.

After King's Birthday things fell off a bit and eventually they closed down for a few months in summer. The present training season commenced again in the middle of September, and the Company has started extraordinarily well, and it is hoped that some useful work would shortly be done. The Company have signed on many more than they have signed off. Since last year, five men who had once been regulars in the Scottish Borderers had joined the Company. Their presence was extremely encouraging and was much appreciated. (Applause.)

Captain Forsyth then welcomed the various guests of the Company, extending a special welcome to Mr. T. H. R. Shaw, who had recently been elected Chairman of St. Andrew's Society. He also mentioned, among others, the presence of Mr. R. M. Dyer, and thanked that gentleman for the interest he had always shown in the Scottish Company. (Applause.)

Mr. Shaw's Reply.

Mr. T. H. R. Shaw, in replying for the visitors, said that he once thought that Hallow'een had something to do with ladies eating apples and looking at glasses, when they would see their future partners over their shoulders. However, on searching back, he found that Hallow'een was really the grand anniversary of the fairies with others of their kindred tribe who sported themselves on the hills and in the burns.

He discovered that Burns had written a very fine poem about Hallow'een in the old days in Scotland. It was a particularly fine poem, but he was not going to bore the company with it and would recite only the very last verse.

Mr. Shaw referring to General Duncan, said that when he was in Shanghai, the Shanghai Scots entertained General Duncan to a tiffin on his arrival. The General was then new to China and was very anxious to discover something about their mentality. He went to the museum and got an old book on "The Art of War," written by a Chinese general, and the first sentence was this:—"The supreme art of war was to subdue the enemy without fighting him." If there was one thing the Chinese did try to do it was to subdue the enemy without fighting him. (Laughter.) This sentence was very applicable to the Volunteers. (Cries of "What? What?") The Volunteer groups were to be always prepared to prevent any outbreak in the particular area in which they happened to be. In China there had been many occasions in which Volunteers have done great service. The Shanghai Volunteers kept the Taipings out of Shanghai during the Taiping trouble. In the Boxer trouble the Volunteers kept the Boxers out of Tientsin. Twice recently the Shanghai Volunteers have distinguished themselves, and particularly worthy of mention was their work of protecting the Shanghai Settlement during the weeks prior to the arrival of the Shanghai Defence Force. The great thing about the Volunteers was that while they had a great duty to perform they carried out their work more as a sport than anything else.

The speeches were followed by songs and music, as will be seen from the programme published below:

G.O.C.'S WARMEDALS STOLEN.

BURGLARS EVADE SENTRIES.

BIG HAUL AT HEADQUARTERS HOUSE.

Headquarters House was the scene of an early morning burglary yesterday when some unknown persons broke into the premises and made good their escape with a lot of valuables, the property of His Excellency the General Officer Commanding, Major-General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O. The total booty is said to amount to some $1,700.

A Police report states that sometime between 2 a.m. and 7 a.m. yesterday, some person or persons gained entrance into the bedroom at Headquarters House, and stole the following articles:—
10 miniature medals arranged on bar—C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.
An Egyptian medal and six other medals valued at $250.
A gold cigarette case, square pattern with patent slide opening action, made by Goldsmiths and Silversmiths Co., London, valued at $30.
A silver pocket watch of Swiss make ("Omega") valued at $25.
A pair of plain gold cuff links valued at $10.
A pair of enameled gold cuff links with the Cameron Crest in enamel on all four faces, valued at $15 (made by Goldsmiths and Silversmiths Co., London.)
A pair of tortoise-shell spectacles in a flat fabric case, valued at $20.
A bunch of eight small keys. $1.20 in loose honey.

It is not unlikely that the intruders were familiar with the surroundings, since they escaped the attention of the sentry and the Indian watchman, who were on duty as usual.
His Excellency attended the ball at Government House on Thursday night and on returning home shortly before 3 a.m., left his numerous decorations in miniature (which he wore to the ball) on the dressing table. The loss of these was discovered at 7 a.m. yesterday.
The robbery is now engaging the close attention of the Police.

TOW-BOAT'S NARROW ESCAPE.

ROBBERS EXPLODE MINE NEAR CANTON.

Passengers on board a Canton-Shuntan tow-boat had a thrilling experience when the vessel narrowly escaped being blown up by a mine laid down by robbers. They were, however, for some time under a fusillade of machine-gun fire. The vessel was on its way on Tuesday to Canton, and was nearing San Kiao when a mine exploded only two or three yards away.

There was a panic among the passengers, and no sooner had they learned that the vessel was not damaged by the explosion, when they were again terror-stricken by the sound of the rifles and machine-guns. The guards on board returned the fire during a brisk encounter with the robbers on the bank of the river and the tow-boat steamed away at full speed and was soon out of harm's way. One male and one female passenger were slightly injured.

It is understood that the owners of the vessel recently received a threatening letter from the robbers to which they paid no heed; hence the incident.

NEW NOTES FOR OLD: MILLION DOLLARS IN PAPER TO BE DESTROYED.

According to a Canton report, the old banknotes of the Central Bank of China are being withdrawn and will be burnt. The bank has issued a notification to the public asking them to exchange the old notes for new ones. A million dollars' worth of the old notes have been withdrawn and those will be chopped and burnt on November 5.

The Provincial Government, the Provincial Treasury, the General Chamber of Commerce and the Bankers' Association have been invited to send representatives to witness the destruction of the notes. There are still very large quantities of old notes in circulation in the market and these will be also destroyed when withdrawn.

HARNESSING THE TIDES.

YOUNG RUSSIAN INVENTOR'S CLAIM.

A young Russian naval architect—a man who dashed to England just before the Russian revolution with a secret torpedo invention recently demonstrated at the mouth of the Avon, Bristol, a simple yet ingenious method for harnessing the tides of the Severn, whereby, he claims, a continuous stream of electrical energy is provided.

The war came to an end before Paul Shishkoff's torpedo device could be put to practical use, but he remained in England patiently carrying on experiments with water power utilisation.

One day, about five years ago, he met a young London engineer, Mr. Frederick Walter Halliwell, and since then both have worked together to bring their device to a practical commercial use.

Giant Turbine.
There is nothing new or sensational in their plan. A giant turbine was laid down at the foot of the Avon's mouth. A 300-foot pipe line was sunk many feet below the ground to draw the water from the dock. The water flows along the pipe into the turbine, where it is churned and converted into alternating current.

What Shishkoff and Halliwell claim to have done is by means of a device fitted to a combination of a turbine, a generator, and a brake, to trap the energy which would otherwise go to waste with the fall of the tide, and keep it bottled up for use as required.
Shishkoff led me into a shed which had been his home for months while he worked on his invention. He claims that his process, fully developed, would make the Bristol Channel produce as much energy as the torrent of Niagara.

THE CRITIC CRITICISED.

FRANCIS BACON wrote sagely that "the best receipt (best I say to work and best to take)" is the faithful admonition of a friend, but he went on to explain that a friend, if he is to be a man's useful admonisher, must be "wholly acquainted with that man's estate." We felt that the recent criticism of the Hong Kong University appearing in the China Critic was something which should not be ignored, and we were determined that it should not be. Investigation of the allegations made, however, has revealed some inaccuracies which need correction in order to remove any possible cause of misunderstanding.

For example, Sir CHARLES ELIOT was summarily dismissed by the writer quoted as an Oxonian and an ex-official of British East Africa. Sir CHARLES certainly was a scholar of Balliol, who, after a singularly distinguished academic career, entered the diplomatic service. It is also true he served in East Africa, as it is also true that after his resignation from the service in 1904 he was appointed Vice-Chancellor of the University of Sheffield—a post which he held for seven years. The China Critic describes Sir CHARLES as a rank failure in Hong Kong, yet this did not prevent him from being appointed British Ambassador in Japan.

To those who know Sir CHARLES ELIOT, anything more ludicrous than the suggestion that his one desire was to "convert Chinese students into real Britishers can scarcely be imagined. He was a lover and admirer of the East and its peoples, and had a profound reverence for the learning and traditions of China. His last words to the students of Hong Kong were that they should never forget their great cultural heritage. Since his retirement, Sir CHARLES has elected to spend more time in Japan than he has spent in England; indeed, we believe he is there at the moment. This scarcely suggests a prejudice against the East or an unreasoning predilection for all things British.

The second Vice-Chancellor, according to our Shanghai contemporary, was Sir CHARLES BRUNYATE, a retired Anglo-Indian official to whom Hong Kong and perhaps China was "another India to be governed and subdued along Anglo-Indian traditions." Here the critic has stumbled badly. CHARLES ELIOT's successor was Sir WILLIAM BRUNYATE, who after a very successful career at Cambridge (which included the Smith's Prize and a Fellowship of Trinity College) entered the Egyptian Government Service in 1896. He was Judicial Adviser to the Government of Egypt, and subsequently, their Acting Financial Adviser. Sir WILLIAM never set foot in India. He had a brother, Sir JAMES BRUNYATE, who concluded a successful career in that country by becoming a member of the Council of India. Sir WILLIAM can scarcely be blamed for this.

As for the "Double Tenth" incident mentioned in the China Critic, we are assured that if it ever occurred no memory of it now survives. The celebration by University students of the Double Tenth has been for years a feature of that anniversary in Hong Kong, and many a citizen has enjoyed their generous hospitality on these occasions. Again, no Dr. C. H. WANG was ever connected with the University Staff, and Sir JAMES CANTLIE never presided over any London Committee of the University. Dr. C. Y. WANG was appointed Professor of Pathology in 1920, and has since held that post with conspicuous devotion and success. Unfortunately, Professor WANG has had recently to be relieved of his duties owing to a severe, though we hope only a temporary, illness.

From the foregoing it will be seen that the personal references contained in the China Critic concern a mainly anonymous by their inaccuracy. Inquiries along some other lines of complaint seem to show similarly negative results. One issue raised was that of racial discrimination. This charge appears to be easily disposed of. The Constitution of the University is fixed by the University Ordinance of 1911, Section 18 of which enacts that "no distinction of race or profession shall be imposed, in order to entitle any person to be admitted as a member, professor, lecturer, teacher or student of the University." The Executive Body of the University is the Council, and of that body the three Chinese members of the Hong Kong Legislative Council are ex-officio members.

In spite of Mr. EVERTS CHEN's deprecatory view of the mentality of these gentlemen, they may be at least expected to see that this section of the Ordinance is not ignored. The Senate is the University's academic body, and the members of it are the University's Professors and Readers, the Vice-Chancellor, and the Director of Education. The Senate has practically unfettered control over the curriculum. Neither Sir SIU-SUN CHOW nor Dr. KORSWALL have ever sat in the Senate. Sir ROBERT HO TAO is a life member of the University's Council, a position which under that Ordinance is its inamovable as he is one of the University's most generous benefactors.

In thus putting the China Critic right in some of its criticisms of the Hong Kong University we do not pretend that all the points raised have been effectively answered. In fact, we suspect some of them to be unanswerable other than by admitting their validity. We have heard, from prominent Chinese citizens in this Colony, criticisms of the University much stronger than any expressed in the China Critic. Whether members of the University's Court, Council, or Senate ever hear of these comments upon their activities—or inaction—we do not know, but they are being made, and made with very sincere conviction. We have been able to obtain a certain amount of information which disposes of some of the points raised in criticism of the University. Those remaining unanswered should be given attention by persons qualified to reply to them. We believe that British and Chinese alike wish to see the best possible use made of the Boxer Indemnity contribution to the Hong Kong University. Differences of opinion as to what constitutes the best use of that money can be reconciled only by argument, not by abuse, exaggeration, or inexactitude.

On a charge of incurring credit by false pretences, William Roger Montgomerie Tilley (25), son of the British Ambassador at Tokyo, Sir John Tilley, appeared at West London Police Court last month, and was remanded on bail. Mrs. Marin Jones, proprietress of a private hotel at Bramham-gardens, Earl's Court, said that in September Tilley and his wife called and stated that Tilley had got an appointment at the Admiralty, that they had been looking for a flat in London, and had lost their last train. They stayed the night. Next day they said they would like to stay as paying guests. When she presented her bill for £4 1s. 6d. Tilley gave her a cheque, not his own, but it was returned by the bank. Mrs. Tilley offered a cheque of her own, but Mrs. Jones replied that she must have money. The Tilleys left while Mrs. Jones was out and she did not see the man again until his arrest. Evidence was given to show that Tilley was adjudicated a bankrupt in August, with liabilities of £1,870 and no assets.

H.M.S. Hermes, the aircraft-carrier attached to the China Station, has been recommissioned at Sheerness with a new crew from Chatham for further service in the Far East. Captain J. D. Lieut.-Colonel John Alexander Geary, late R.A., of Arretton, Camberley, son of the late Lieut.-General Sir Henry Leguay Geary, Colonel-Commandant, R.A., was married to Mrs. Cecil Oonagh Lowe, widow of Mr. Arthur Rylands Lowe, of Kellott Lodge, Hong Kong, at St. Peter's, Newbridge, near Dorking, last month. The bride, who was given away by Capt. Francis Cuckburn Curtis, Royal Signals, wore a gown of pale silver-grey georgette, with trimming and insertions of silver-grey lace. She wore a close-fitting hat in two shades of grey, and wore a single string of pearls. There were no bridesmaids. Capt. Silsbury de la Poer Beresford was best man. A reception was held afterwards at Cedar Close. The honeymoon is being spent at Oxon Heath, near Tonbridge (lent by Sir William Geary), and the bride travelled in a sapphire-blue coat and skirt, with a grey squirrel fur tie and a grey hat.

A memorial service to Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss Eleanor Harrison, the two missionaries who have been shot in China, was held at St. Bride's Church, Fleet Street, on October 10. The sermon was preached by the Rev. W. Wilson Cuth, the general secretary of the Church Missionary Society. Writing to The Times the Rev. J. Muir Elliott says:—As one who knew Miss Harrison well I feel very sure of three things. (1) She would not wish the ransom money to be paid, taking all the circumstances into consideration—the Church's need, her own age, and the present state of China. (2) As missionary-nurse-dispenser she would gladly minister to her captors, even rejoicing in the opportunity. (3) Her message to the public would be (in the words of Alexander Mackay), "When the news comes, do not be cast down, but send someone else immediately to take the vacant place." Such was her spirit.

It will be struck at sunset, when the Vice-Admiral will be regarded as on leave of absence until he proceeds to take up his appointment. He will take passage to Hong Kong in the s.s. Macedonia, leaving England on January 9, and is expected to take over the command from Admiral Sir Arthur Weistell about February 13.

Correcting a statement made in a London paper that Dame Clara Butt would be the first singer to make English records in Japan, Miss Evelyn Mardon points out that she was engaged by the Nipponophone Co. to make twelve records for the Japanese Government in 1923, just before the big earthquake. These records were to be used for educational purposes, primarily to interest students in the English language.

There is much conjecture, observes a Daily Mail writer as to the future office of Sir Reginald Johnston, who has relinquished his work as British Commissioner at Weihaiwei and has left for home. At present there is only one overseas Governorship vacant, that of Bermuda. Possibly certain transfers will be effected which may provide Sir Reginald with a new post.

Mr. Kodaka, the well-known Japanese dealer in pearls, is visiting the Colony earlier this year than usual, owing to the fact that he is going on to Java and the Straits Settlements as soon as possible. Last year Mr. Kodaka sold over $100,000 worth of pearls in those parts. Mr. Kodaka is showing, at Messrs. Stevenson and seconded by Mr. S. E. White. On going to the vote the amendment was defeated and the resolution carried. On the motion of Mr. W. Kerman, seconded by Dr. Swan, it was decided that an iron pavilion, No. 844, be constructed. Hong Kong Daily Press, November 2, 1905.

Looking Back 50 Years. "Can anyone give us the date when the people of Devon came over from China? I find a curious custom common to both people. In Devon, apples are sold, not by measure, but by number. In counting, the people take three in one hand and two in the other, then call the whole number one. Thus a hundred would be twenty such handfuls. In Canton the same method is adopted in counting eggs. My unscientific mind finds it difficult to believe that the duodecimal system is more natural and easy than the decimal, and I find heathen customs and Christian practices both practically on my side." Hong Kong Daily Press, November 2, 1880.

CHINA TO BORROW
AMERICA'S SILVER.BRITAIN AND JAPAN
ENVOIOUS OF PROPOSAL.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30. Judge Paul Lineberger, legal adviser to the Chinese Government, has arrived here en route to Washington as a special envoy of Chiang Kai Shek to negotiate a United States loan of a thousand million ounces of silver to rehabilitate the whole of China by diverting the millions of men engaged in war into peaceful production.

In the course of an interview, Judge Lineberger said that he would ask Congress to authorize a fifty-year loan at two per cent. interest. The proposal of China is that the surplus silver coins which are no longer necessary as a foundation for America's currency be melted into bars and shipped to the Orient to be reconverted into money.

The United States, he said, had a peculiar opportunity, of which Great Britain and Japan were envious, but concerning which they can do nothing, as they are both lacking the necessary silver.

Interview With Finance Minister.

NANKING, Oct. 31.

With reference to the Lineberger report from San Francisco, Mr. T. V. Soong, Finance Minister, interviewed by Reuter, stated that there had been no change in the declared policy of the Finance Ministry not to seek loans abroad until the Government had made a settlement covering domestic loans which were now in arrears.

EARTHQUAKE
TERROR IN ROME.MANY DEATHS REPORTED
IN THE CAMPAGNA.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

ROME, Oct. 30. Owing to the intensity of the communication it is difficult to obtain exact information from the outlying districts, but three more deaths due to the earthquake are reported in villages near Ancona, 8 injured at Pessaro, 22 at Mondolfo, and 6 at Fano.

A tidal wave which followed the earthquake swept the harbour of Ancona, one of the finest in Italy. Fortunately the earthquake occurred at an hour when most of the people were already up.

The terrified population rushed into the streets in great alarm.

The earthquake zone extended northwards through Emilia and the Campagna Marches, the chief places affected in the former region being Ferrara, Ravenna, and Faenza, while Ancona and Fano suffered most in the latter district.

Three shocks within twenty minutes.

The telephones are being re-established and more reliable reports of the disaster are now obtainable.

The first shock was the most violent, and the three major shocks occurred within 20 minutes in the centre of Senigallia, where 10 people were killed and 276 injured, some due to the collapse of a church roof during Mass, killing the priest and eight members of the congregation.

The damage to ancient buildings, especially to medieval architecture, and there were comparatively few casualties, three persons being killed and 54 injured.

IMPERIAL AIR LINER
CRASH.CITY OF WASHINGTON
DESTROYED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BOULOGNE, Oct. 30. The Imperial Airways liner City of Washington crashed near here at half-past two this afternoon and was completely wrecked.

Farm labourers who were witnesses of the crash rushed to the spot and extricated five of the occupants.

All were severely injured and taken to the hospital at Neuchâtel.

Three, namely, the pilot, Flynn, the mechanic, Mason, and a passenger named Street, died of their injuries.

The sixth occupant of the air liner was found on the roadside, exhausted and badly injured in the leg, but he tried to limp to the village for help.

Engine Goes Out of Action.

The crash was due to the engine going out of action as the plane neared the coast.

The pilot struggled on in an endeavour to find a suitable landing place, but he encountered fog.

Eye-witnesses say that when 100 feet high the machine was caught in a gust of wind and crashed on the hillside and was completely destroyed, except for the fuselage, but did not catch fire.

Street was the American secretary of a New Jersey company.

Mr. F. H. Mason was a Cheltonian, and Mr. A. C. James a Bristol man.

Mr. Tompkins, who was found on the roadside courageously seeking help, was taken to hospital, where his leg was amputated.

Cause of Mishap Unknown.

The Imperial Airways confirm that Street and Mason are dead, also the mechanic, James Flynn, and the pilot, Flynn.

Mr. F. B. Tompkins, both Manchester men, were injured.

The cause of the mishap is at present unknown.

ATHENS, Oct. 30. General Pangalos, the former Dictator of Greece, was arrested at his residence in Eleusis to-day following the discovery of a plot to restore him to power with the aid of insurgent forces.

The police made arrests elsewhere, but a number of the conspirators escaped owing to a member of the Government forces surrounding their headquarters accidentally letting off his rifle.

AIRSHIP HARBOUR
IN HOLLAND.NEGOTIATIONS BY GERMAN AND DUTCH INTERESTS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 30. German and Dutch financial interests are negotiating the establishment of an airship harbour in Holland or in South Germany in view of an airship service to the Dutch East Indies.

PLENARY SESSION
OF C.E.C.DRAFT CONSTITUTION
APPROVED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PEIPING, Oct. 31. A message from Taiyuanfu states that in spite of the military situation the Enlarged Plenary Session of the Central Executive Council of the Kuomintang was still carrying on.

A meeting held on October 27, presided over by Wang Ching Wei, "finally approved the draft of the Provisional Constitution," which was "promulgated" on the same day.

Wang Ching Wei then left for South Shanai to see Feng Yu Hsiang.

YORK INFANT PRINCESS
CHRISTENED.ROBE USED BY QUEEN
VICTORIA.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 30. Dressed in a cream silk old lace robe 110 years old, used for the christening of Queen Victoria and nearly all her descendants, the 10 weeks' old Princess Margaret Rose was christened this afternoon in the private chapel at Buckingham Palace by the Archbishop of Canterbury from the gold "lily" font brought from Windsor Castle.

The King and Queen and the Duchess of York's sister are the chief god-parents.

EMPIRE CONFERENCE

COMMITTEES' REPORTS TO BE CONSIDERED.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

BEAUVY, Oct. 30. The heads of the delegations to the Imperial Conference will meet to-morrow to receive and consider such reports as have been completed by the Committees entrusted with the examination of the questions on the agenda.

Later, Imperial constitutional questions were referred to a Committee under Lord Chancellor Sankey, and its Drafting Committee to-day presented draft reports on various aspects of its work.

The completed part of a draft report constitutes a lengthy and highly technical document and includes sections dealing with the operation of Dominion legislation, nationality, the question of channels of communication to be used between His Majesty's Government and Dominion and foreign Governments, and questions affecting the position of Governors-General.

The Sankey Committee has decided to request further time before its final report is sent on to the heads of the delegations.

Methods Alternative to Tariff.

The Committee on Inter-Imperial Economic Co-operation to-day approved the reports of sub-committees which have been examining the possibility of employing methods alternative to a tariff, such as quota bulk purchase, import boards and extension of the work of the Empire Marketing Board to specific commodities—canned fruit, canned fish, fresh fruit, and dairy products.

The Committee is now engaged on its general report to the heads.

Settlement Overseas and Assisted Passages.

The Overseas Settlement Committee has completed its report, which reviews the whole problem of State-assisted migration within the Empire.

Organization, set up both in the Dominions and in Great Britain, and the measures taken to ensure that the settlement of migrants is of advantage to themselves and to the countries in which they settle, have been closely examined. These include assisted passages, with assured employment, schemes such as the 3,000 families scheme in Canada, the similar and more recent scheme in New Brunswick, schemes to encourage juvenile settlers, and various schemes for the training of intending overseas settlers in England.

There are three of the large training centres in existence, in addition to five hostels for young women and eight for boys. This elaborate system has been reviewed, and the Committee has completed its report.

Expressed as to the wisdom of keeping the machinery of the present economic conditions throughout the Empire.

JAPAN TURNS THE
OTHER CHEEK.POLICY OF BENEVOLENCE
IN FORMOSA.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

TOKYO, Oct. 31. It is understood that the Minister for Overseas Affairs has informed the Cabinet that the authorities have decided to refrain from a policy of retaliation in Formosa, and to adopt a policy of benevolence as being the best suited to bring the situation under control, though no lenience will be shown to the ringleaders of the insurrection.

Tribesmen Only Attacked Japanese.

Later.

According to despatches from Taihoku, the tribesmen attacked only Japanese, and there was not a single Formosan victim.

The police certainly are inclined to suspect certain Formosans of having instigated the aborigines, and have arrested a number of suspects.

In the meantime, the Government have instructed the Governor-General of Formosa to ascertain the true cause of the outbreak, and report to Tokyo as soon as possible.

Pending a formal report of the cause of the outbreak, nothing definite is known, but Press reports indicate that there is a growing belief that the outbreak was largely due to the tribesmen's objection to the corvée system, though a number of contributory cases are also mentioned.

Hardships of Fugitive Forces.

Tormenting rain and the guerrilla tactics of their opponents are adding to the hardships of the troops operating in the savage districts.

A general attack by infantry and artillery and police, about 1,500 strong, however, is expected to be launched this morning in co-operation with machine-guns and aircraft.

Resistance is expected, as the tribesmen are realising their desperate plight, and it is reported that they are prepared to fight to the last man, while many of their women folk for the purpose of leaving the warriors free from anxiety for their safety have committed suicide.

According to a despatch to the Osaka Asahi, General Watanabe, Commander-in-Chief in Formosa, has ordered the suppression of the rebels, which is taken to indicate that the military intend to take control of the whole of the operations, which hitherto has been in the hands of the civil authorities and police.

EXAMPLE TO THE WORLD.

PRINCE OF WALES ON THE COMMONWEALTH.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 30. The British Commonwealth of Nations was held up as an example to the world by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales at a dinner held in the Guildhall under the auspices of the League of Nations Union, at which all the Dominions were represented by eminent persons.

The Prince pointed out that the gathering represented one-fourth of the entire human race, comprising different races, languages and conditions, maintaining their separate nationalities and pursuing their own method of development.

They had, said the Prince, passed beyond the stage at which it was the duty of a nation vehemently to assert its independence.

"They settle their differences round a table, and if a quarter of the human race has thus proved the practicability of a true league of united but independent nations, is it more idealism to hope that the remaining three-fourths will be able to tread the same path?"

CHINESE COMMUNISM IN PHILIPPINES.CONSUL ASKED TO CO-OPERATE WITH POLICE.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

MANILA, Oct. 31. The first definite steps towards ridding the Philippine Islands of the menace of Chinese Communism was taken last night when the Chinese Consul was asked to co-operate with the police. The need for action was demonstrated last week-end when two prominent members of the Kuomintang were stabbed and valuable property—two Chinese cigar factories—were set on fire.

An appeal has been made to the Chinese Consul in Manila to assist the police and constabulary by furnishing the names of Communists and known agitators for the purpose of forwarding them to Governor-General Davis with a recommendation for their deportation.

The Chinese district is being heavily patrolled, and it is believed that the roving bands of Communists have been temporarily cowed. The Constabulary are assisting.

There is every indication that there will be no cessation of the activity of the authorities before the danger is definitely averted.

DANGEROUS DRUGS
CONFERENCE.TURKEY LENDING LOYAL
CO-OPERATION.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, Oct. 30. At to-day's session of the meeting of manufacturing countries preliminary to the Conference on the limitation of manufacture of dangerous drugs, the delegation representing the Turkish Republic made its first appearance.

Responding to a speech of welcome, Mazhar Bey, principal Turkish delegate, said the Turkish delegation would lend its loyal co-operation and would make every possible effort towards ensuring the complete success of the Conference.

The Chairman expressed the satisfaction of the Conference on hearing the statement.

The Conference then considered details of a plan for setting up an International Office for effecting limitation of manufacture in each manufacturing country and the distribution of drugs manufactured to all countries according to their medical requirements.

EAST AFRICA CLOSER
UNION.COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO CONSIDER PROPOSALS.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, Oct. 30. The Under-Secretary for the Colonies, Mr. William Lunn, in the House of Commons, said it was hoped to move shortly in both Houses for the appointment of a joint Committee to consider proposals for closer union in East Africa.

In conclusion, Mr. Baldwin asked all supporters of his policy to raise their hands. Lord Beaverbrook was the only hand not raised.

Mr. Baldwin continued that he had been pressed to resign. In some circumstances he would not have said that he would have resigned, but would have considered the matter, and declared: "In the present circumstances, I will not give it any consideration." (Loud and prolonged applause.) But if the Party, after discussion, told him that it desired another leader, he would walk out without malice and retire from politics, and do nothing to "quiver the pitch" of his successor. On the contrary, if the meeting endorsed his leadership, he would expect more loyalty than had been shown during the past few months.

Resolution of Confidence.

Mr. Baldwin then retired from the Chamber amid loud applause.

At the conclusion of the meeting a resolution of confidence in Mr. Baldwin was carried unanimously.

Heavy Snowfall at Peiping.

Peiping is experiencing most exceptional weather.

Following 36 hours of incessant rain, heavy snow last night and this morning covered the ancient capital in a deep mantle, which is unknown during the month of October.

Numerous telephone and telegraph wires were broken, made the streets and courtyards are strewn with hundreds of branches, which were smashed off from the trees.

SOUTH PADDINGTON
BY-ELECTION.EMPIRE CRUSADE CANDI-DATE SUCCESSFUL.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 31. The result of the South Paddington bye-election was as follows:—

Vice-Admiral Taylor (Empire Crusade) 11,500
Sir Herbert Liddard (Official Conservative) 10,508
Miss Dorothy Evans (Labour) 7,704
Mrs. Stewart-Richardson (United Empire) 404
Mrs. Stewart-Richardson loses her deposit.

Views of the Candidates.

Later.

The result of the South Paddington election was received by a large crowd with cheers mingled with catcalls.

Vice-Admiral Taylor describes his victory as a great blow to the opponents of Empire Free Trade and the "wobblers" who are afraid to adopt it.

Sir Herbert Liddard said he was beaten as the result of the most intensive Press campaign of abuse and misrepresentation in any bye-election in England's political history.

Miss Dorothy Evans declared that she was in no way discouraged by the result of the Labour's first attempt to capture South Paddington. She had thoroughly enjoyed the pantomime election tactics of her opponents.

Mrs. Stewart-Richardson complained of the "disgraceful" withdrawal of support from the cause of the United Empire party.

Lord Beaverbrook told a reporter: "We will go marching on."

"WE WANT MR.
BALDWIN."LORD BEAVERBROOK SOLE DISSENTIENT.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Oct. 30. At the Conservative meeting (reported in yesterday's issue of the Daily Press), Mr. Stanley Baldwin, outlining his Imperial policy (which received the support of all present except Lord Beaverbrook), said that he had already decided that nothing short of a tariff on foreign manufactured goods would meet the situation of British industry. He was pledged to introduce one immediately he came into office.

In regard to the Imperial Conference, he said that no leader of the Conservative Party could have taken any other line than that which he took, namely, an acceptance of the Dominion Premier's preference offer and the expression of willingness to have a perfectly free hand to deal.

Whole Position Completely Changed.

The whole position had completely changed since the Spring, and the Conservative Party now had a logical basis to fight upon.

Mr. Baldwin at this point exclaimed: "We cannot, of course, go on as we have been going on. I will say no more about that."

Policy of "The Free Hand."

Mr. Baldwin then referred to his fiscal policy as the policy of a "free hand."

In conclusion, Mr. Baldwin asked all supporters of his policy to raise their hands. Lord Beaverbrook was the only hand not raised.

Mr. Baldwin continued that he had been pressed to resign. In some circumstances he would not have said that he would have resigned, but would have considered the matter, and declared: "In the present circumstances, I will not give it any consideration." ENTRIES FOR HONG KONG ST. LEGER.

TEN DERBY GRIFFINS TO RACE OVER A MILE AND THREE-QUARTERS.

DETAILS OF HANDICAPS AND CLASSIFICATION.

[By "MORNING DEW"]

Details of the entries and handicaps for the Tenth Extra Race Meeting to be held on Saturday next will be found below. It will be seen that ten of this year's Derby griffins have accepted for the main race, the Hong Kong St. Leger. The distance is over a mile and three-quarters. The Derby winner Diana Bay, is a notable absentee.

Wisdom Stag, who was second in the Derby, has been entered, and will undoubtedly be a great favourite. His stable companion Windsor Stag has also been entered and it looks very much as if Mr. Chiu Tin Sion, the owner of the "Stag" stable, will account for this event.

Messrs. Mackie & Grayburn's peppermint, which took third place in the Derby, will also figure among the starters. Others entered are Peppercorn, a pony in very good fettle at the moment, though by no means "classy" enough to be a danger to the favourites. In this same category may be included The Tiger and Mike, who are simply not good enough. Blue Heaven even if at top form will find the question of stamina a hard one to overcome. African Eve has an outside chance at the best. The only other entry, King's Colour, is a real danger. He has been consistently good since the resumption of racing in September and might prove to be the surprise packet on Saturday next.

In the remaining events, Zorhan is a notable absentee, while Sparmint and Majestic Hall have both made a welcome re-appearance among the entries. Hya Mourmetz also has been entered, but he is by no means the pony he was once thought to be, and is not likely to confound the critics.

There are in all two races over six furlongs, three over a mile, two over a mile and a quarter, and the St. Leger. More will be written about prospects later.

73 YEARS ON ONE FARM.

AGED MAN'S TRIBUTE TO HIS WIFE.

A record of having served for more than seventy-three years on the same farm in Berners Road, Essex, the once-prosperous Essex lowland corn-growing country is the proud boast of Mr. William Lodge, who although eighty-four years of age, still rises with the sun to go to his daily toil on the land.

Mr. Lodge, who has served five employers on the same farm, is still hale and hearty, and on most evenings when the sun has set he may be seen ploughing his homeward way across the fields. A welcome always awaits him at home from his daughter. Life has left him a little lonely since his wife died forty years ago.

He is little more than five feet in height, but he walks with the erect figure of a guardsman.

No Machines.

"Farming is not like it used to be," Mr. Lodge said. "I started work in the days when there were no machines. Every spit of land was honestly turned over by the muscle of the labourer and the sweat of the horses.

"Ploughing was ploughing in those days, and I'm not sure that the coming of motors has made things better. What pride can a man take in a piece of cold machinery?"

"Why, at ten I left school and went to the farm, and at fifteen I had charge of a pair of plough-horses. The first wage that I took was a shilling a week.

"My horses were always my first love, although when I was twenty I did take a young wife, and brought up two sons and two daughters.

"My wife loved the horses too, and often when I set out with them she would go to the stable and see some of her best ribbons and finery to deck them up a bit.

"We reared four healthy youngsters on 10s. a week."

WASTED SCHOLARSHIPS.

NEW METHODS OF MAKING AWARDS.

The Council of the Surveyors' Institution has decided to discontinue the system of awarding scholarships on the result of a competitive examination.

In future awards will be made by selection, the applicant's school record, personality, and intentions regarding his future career as a chartered surveyor being considered.

There will be offered annually one three-year scholarship, value £100 per annum, and three, one-year scholarships of £125 each, which will in all cases be tenable at the University of Cambridge, except where the successful applicant for a one-year scholarship has applied to use his emoluments for travel.

"There is a very good reason for the Council's decision," said Mr. A. Goddard, secretary of the Surveyors' Institution. "We discovered that boys were taking our scholarships—at a cost to the institution of hundreds of pounds—and then embarking on other careers for which the scholarships were not granted. A brilliant boy in a secondary school, say, may be urged by his school-master to enter for a scholarship. The boy looks round, and thinks he would like to try for a scholarship awarded by the institution. He enters, succeeds, and, of course, goes to the University.

Having taken his degree, he may find that he is not in a position to go any further because his parents cannot afford to pay the fees necessary to enable him to obtain a post in a surveyor's office. Faced with such a difficulty, the boy has no option but to take whatever remunerative channel is open to him. He may accept a commission to supervise the building of roads in China at £200 a year, or one to plan a village in Africa. But whatever post he takes he does not become a chartered surveyor.

"That means that the institution has wasted its money and its time for there are hosts of young fellows who would be willing to fulfil the conditions which are set out in the regulations surrounding the scholarships. By the new plan we shall be sure of getting boys who are keen on entering the profession."

AIR STUNT WARNING.

The Royal Air Force report for 1929, recently published, reveals that there were fewer deaths from flying accidents during the year than in any year since 1921, and that more aircraft hours were flown per accident resulting in death or injury than in any previous year.

The percentage of flying casualties resulting in death in 1929 was twenty-eight, compared with forty-one in 1928 and thirty-nine in 1927. It is stated that the chief effect of steep banking at high speed, "black-out," appears to be due to withdrawal of blood from the eye itself, a condition which does not incapacitate the pilot sufficiently to render management of the aircraft impossible.

The "black-out," however, should be regarded by pilots as a warning not to increase these effects by turning further.
